Product Standard Cost

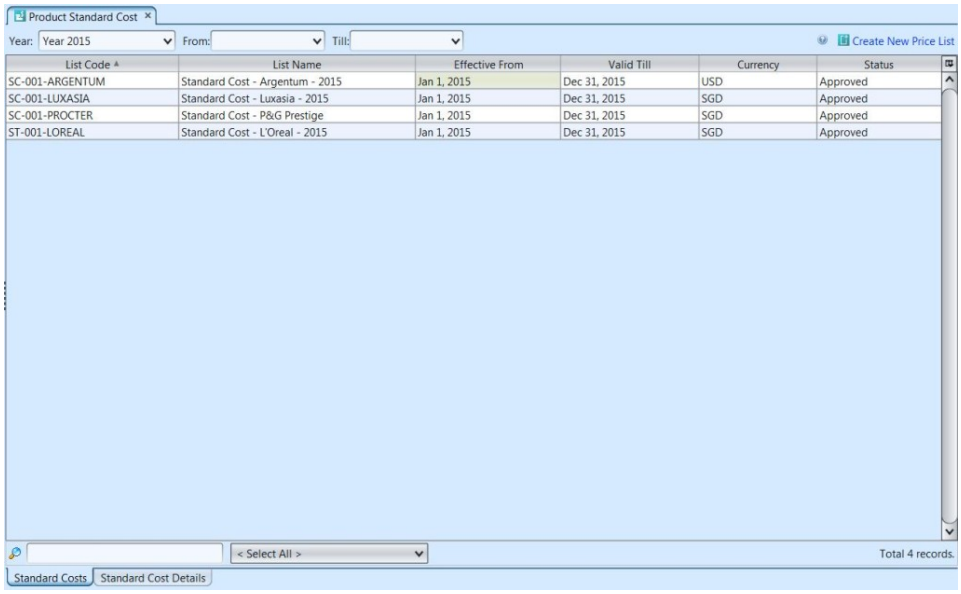

Product Standard Cost view allows user to create and manage lists of products standard cost for different period of time.

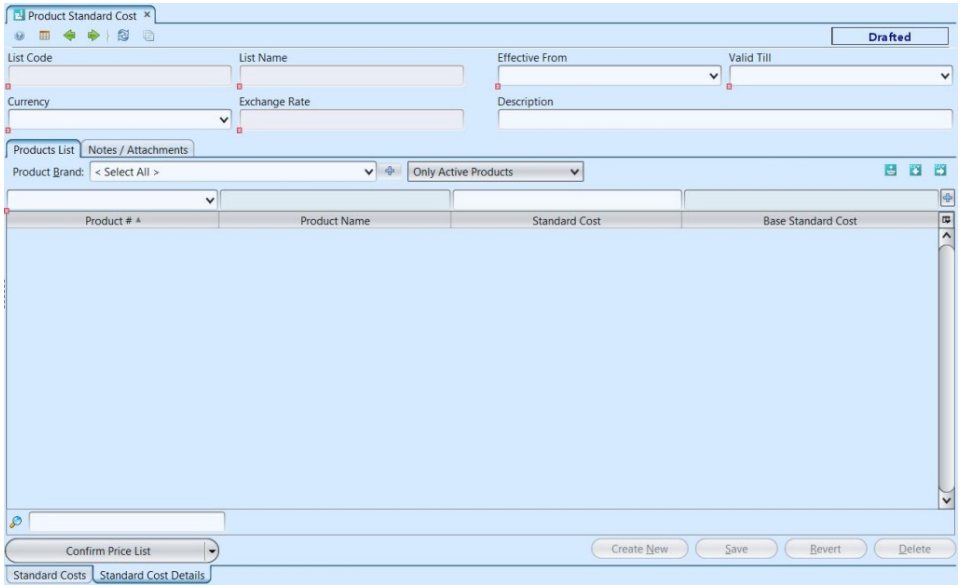

Standard cost is a fixed cost that is defined (both in purchasing currency and functional currency) for a period (quarter, fiscal year) and which will provide a basis upon which the actual cost (this being the cost that is incurred for each purchase) will be measured. It allows to quickly see variations (Purchase Price Variance and Forex variation impact) with what had been used in the planning of the cost and provide management with an effective mean of ensuring that if large variation occur, corrective measures (selling price increase being one) can be made to maintain projected margins.

Note: Samooha allows user to create and maintain multiple Standard Costs for the same product, in different currencies for the same period. In this case, user should ensure the Base Standard Costs' in the multiple lists are of the same values or as close as possible.
